

The big event of the week and of the midwinter season is the administration ball to be given tomorrow evening at the Odeon. The affair will be attended by a great many out-of-town guests, as well as by many of those prominent in politics locally. The post people have been invited to be the guests of the administration, and it is likely that the army officers and the officers of the governor's staff will make a great showing with their full dress uniforms. The gowns of the ladies will be quite eclipsed by the display of gold braid.

Despite the fact that several of the most enthusiastic golfers have sought green fields and pastures new within the past few weeks, everything points to an early opening of the Country club, whose devotees are already watching on mild days for an opportunity to show in what fine condition the place is. During the fair days of the past week or so, many members were out at the club and, although the more recent storm has interfered, the place will probably be formally opened earlier this year than ever before.

The most encouraging reports come from two of Utah's talented girls, who are abroad studying—Miss Emma Lucy Gates and Miss Sybella White Clayton. Both of them are meeting with marked successes, and have been fairly showered with honors in Berlin.

Women's Clubs.

At the regular meeting of the Ladies' Literary club on Friday Mrs. C. E. Richards presented the only topic of the afternoon, which was a scholarly, clear-cut resume of the trend of modern fiction. After a general talk on the tendency of the age in a materialistic way, Mrs. Richards took up some of the writers of the day and showed the dominant ideas in their work, gathering from her study of them a more optimistic view than is usually held in regard to modern fiction. She closed with the dawn of a new era from Keat's "Hyperion," which foreshadows the rise of a newer and a better race of writers than the old.

The music of the afternoon was furnished by Miss Minette Baer, who played a beautiful barcarole by Rubenstein, and Mrs. Corinne M. Hammer, who sang two splendid solos. Besides these, the usual monthly business of the club was transacted.

The Wasatch Literary circle was entertained most pleasantly Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. J. E. Berkeley at her home on H street. Miss Thome gave a talk on Constantinople. Mrs. A. T. McCann gave a description of Egypt and city of Naples. Mrs. Fred B. Jones delighted the members with a vocal number, and later refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held Feb. 2 with Mrs. J. J. Thomas at her apartments in the Emery.

The Woman's league is planning an evening meeting for Feb. 9 in the library, at which of the purposes and aims of the league will be set forth and an effort made to right some of the wrongs that need the attention of the league and those interested in its work. It is expected that the Civic league will co-operate with the Woman's league in this matter, and suitable addresses will be made.

The Monday night Literary held its last meeting with Mrs. Bledsoe. The program consisted of a paper on "Results of Child Study" by Mrs. Bledsoe and a talk by Dr. Houghton on "The Immature Movement." The next meeting will be held Jan. 25 at the residence of Dr. Houghton, 911 Third avenue.

The next meeting of the Ladies' Literary club will be held next Friday.
